ITZY BITZY RITZY

TRAVELLING FAMILIES need to keep their brood entertained and the Ritz Kids programme at Ritz-Carlton hotels around the world certainly delivers on that front. The offerings vary from hotel to hotel but one thing that remains a constant is the ability to create a menu of engaging experiences for kids aged four to 12. Ritz Kids isn't just another supervised hotel-based activity area but a menu of thoughtful and immersive activities dedicated to educating children about the world around them. And keeping in mind the brand's partnership with Jean-Michel Cousteau's Ocean Future's Society, trips to sea destinations like the new Ritz-Carlton, Aruba are filled with fascinating kid-friendly experiences like searching for and learning to identify types of local iguanas, and exploring the island's lush mangroves in Nature Scouts. In Hawaii, at The Ritz-Carlton, Kapalua, kids and parents alike can take part in Jean-Michel Cousteau's Ambassadors of the Environment programme through an array of activities. Follow a naturalist to coral gardens to snorkel and snap photos with an underwater camera, or find "The Fires of Pele" during a hike to an ancient lava flow while learning how the Hawaiian islands were formed from volcanoes erupting from the sea.

HIKE TO AN ANCIENT LAVA FLOW WHILE LEARNING HOW THE HAWAIIAN ISLANDS WERE FORMED

Travelling with a baby or toddler? Along with superb Mayan beaches, The Ritz-Carlton, Cancun offers Itzy Bitzy Baby Amenities. Lending a helping hand to accommodate parents travelling with infants, items like baby bath amenities, a baby soaking tub, crib, changing table, miniature hangers for infant-sized clothes and high chair are available to ensure baby's every need is met so the whole family can make the most of their time in paradise. Older kids will be thrilled to play a part in sea turtle conservation from May to November each year by helping new hatchlings make their way to the sea with the aid of the hotel's Turtle Guardian programme.

One&Only Le Saint Géran

BESPOKE CUISINE

CHICKEN NUGGETS, mini-pizzas and french fries are ubiquitous items on children's menus around the world but the One&Only Le Saint Géran in Mauritius treats children like little gourmands. Partnering with acclaimed child food guru Annabel Karmel, parents might feel a twinge of envy when they see their little ones tucking into a delectable range of healthy dishes such as oriental bento with shrimp dim sum,

South of the Border chicken fajitas or Dodo's lychee and berries frozen yogurt. Further health-conscious programmes help kids to develop an interest in exercise and nutrition while on holiday, but this doesn't mean that silly activities are forgotten. The shipwreck-themed KidsOnly Club offers a fun-filled world of games, crafts and a dedicated kids' swimming pool.

Alila Villas Soori Bali

A BALI JOURNEY

THE INDONESIAN island of Bali may be small but it's certainly not short on heritage, culture and exploring opportunities, and Alila Villas Soori Bali has pulled out all the stops to ensure children and families can immerse themselves in island life with Journeys for the Little Ones. Creative tykes will enjoy building and flying traditional Balinese kites, organised treasure hunts or getting their hands dirty (literally) to mould traditional terracotta items. They can even don a chef's hat to create sweet treats with Alila's pastry chef. For children fascinated by creatures great and small, Alila can arrange a trip to a village stable to feed horses or watch exotic butterflies in a tropical garden. More of Bali's rich culture can be experienced with visits to rice paddy fields, Balinese dance lessons or by learning to play local instruments such as the bamboo xylophone, or rindik.

CASTAWAY KIDS

ADULTS WON'T NEED much convincing to visit the idyllic Fregate Island Private in the Seychelles, but kids will be begging to go once they catch wind of Castaway Club House, a special kids' club on the island located in a hut surrounded by verdant, tropical forests. Catering for ages three to 12, there's a tonne of exciting planned activities for junior island explorers, such as treasure hunts on the beach and educational hikes through the jungle guided by a conservation manager. The island is home to some 2,200 giant Aldabra tortoises and lucky kids might even get the chance to meet James, the island's 150-year-old resident tortoise.

ISLAND EXPLORERS

DESIGNED BY the purveyor of luxury tours, Scott Dunn, Per Aquum Niyama has launched a new kids' island, home to the first kids' club in the Maldives to accept children under the age of three – a fact sure to elicit hoots of delight from the frazzled parents of toddlers. The aptly named Play island is fitted with two-bedroom family villas equipped with a nanny's room and two private pools, with a club split into four different age groups from 12 months to 12 years. With plenty of care-givers to watch over the little ones, activities revolve around learning about the Maldivian destination – a cornerstone of Scott Dunn's Explorers clubs – while theme days for the youngest, like Jungle Safari, Pirates & Princesses
